OUR TOWN

Copy of the Kourier Magazine, official publication of the Ku Klux Klan reached this desk yesterday. First copy to come under the modest observation of the editor. Some interesting matter in the current issue. One of the leading articles, "The Issue: Smith Versus America." Here is the way Dr. H. W. Evans, Emperor and Imperial Wizard, begins the discussion of the campaign against Governor Smith. "In the presidential campaign this year there is only one position that can be tak n by the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, by any klansman, or by any other American who realizes the issues which are at stake. This is unwavering, unchangeable, active and militant opposition to the election of Alfred E. Smith. And then the Emperor goes on to say, "It is with deep regret that I find it necessary to commit the organization to either side in a struggle between American political parties."

After submitting the arguments why Klansmen must be active and militant against Governor Smith the Wizard ends thus: "It is no small fight to which the Klan is committed by virtue of its principles and its very nature. We enter it with regret, but we shall fight it to the limit of our most consecrated abilities. We shall be fighting for all that is deepest and most important to Americanism, Protestantism and Freedom. The call to the Fiery Cross goes forth summoning every man to battle. KLANSMEN, ARISE AND ARM FOR THE FRAY."

Compare all of this with the unqualified Americanism of Governor Smith who on last night accepted the Democratic Nomination for the Presidency declaring for equal and uniform blessings of the Jeffersonian state. The governor said he will follow his practice of selecting men for high places without respect to their political or church affiliations. In New York thirteen administrative heads are appointed by the great governor. One is Catholic, two are Jews and ten are protestants. His private secretary, the man who is closer to him than any other of his public associates is a Mason and a member of the Missionary Baptist church. The disgruntled runts of orthodoxy down in Texas are passing resolutions condeming the man who more than any other American today offers a common ground of unity and peace.

Every honest American will applaud the courage and the statesmanship of Governor Smith. All will not agree, but none should question his high integrity or purpose. Standing on the steps of the state house where many years ago as a young man his genius for government first kindled under the cross of service, he gave to America its first comprehensive and courageous political utterance since death touched the tongue of Wilson. If the party cannot follow such leadership it deserves to die.

To rid the country of the sham and hypocracy of present day prohibition the governor has met the issue in a manner most commendable. Many will not agree on his plan of cure for an intolerable national situation, but all should agree that his effort is honest and courageous and offers no threat of return of the open saloon or any private engagement in commercial intoxicants. His plan is to recognize by law what now exists in fact all over this country, namely, that all who wish may have liquor, with the exception that the government shall have supervision; that dry states shall maintain their dry laws against interstate shipment, transportation or consumption of beverages with illegal alcoholic content; that other states if they desire may prescribe their own beverages subject however to the maximum national law content to be arrived at in truth and in scientific certainty. The home brew democrats may now move in columns to the front line trenches and the malt syrup dealers can claim with certainty that the governor offers them no hopes for the future, but the issue is with us and meet it we will.

With respect to enforcement Governor Smith makes it plain. As much cannot be said by the present administration because there has been no sincere or honest effort to enforce prohibition. Law con be changed only by the congress or the people. Read what Governor Smith says:

"The president of the United States has two constitutional duties with respect to prohibition. The first is embodied in his oath of office. If, with one hand on the Bible and the other hand reaching up to Heaven, I promise the people of this country that "I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States and to the best of my ability preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States," you may be sure

H. G. KENNEY RESIGNS PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

PASTOR TO QUIT POST. WILL PREACH SUNDAY ON TRUTH SUBJECT

Universal regret is expressed here over the resignation of H. G. Kenney pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

The resignation announced Sunday to become effective on or before November 1, 1928 has been mailed to the session.

When asked for his future plans the pastor would say nothing except that in all probability he would retire from the ministry, however this decision has not been made, circumstances alone will determine his future course.

Mr. Kenney has been pastor of the church for the past three years and under his ministry the church has prospered. His resignation will be regretted by the people.

Mr. Kenney is a liberal in his views, supporters point out, stating that the majority of the membership will vote for his retention as pastor and will ask him to reconsider. His pulpit here has been the place from which many of the greatest sermons ever heard on pure Christian principles have been delivered. Worn out customs dogmas and creeds have had no aid from him, and he has cut away the weight of verbage to proclaim a 20th century application of the principles of Christianity.

Informed men and women here ,it is pointed out, believe his utterances worthy of the greatest pulpits in America and sincerely regret his resignation.

FORMER REFINERY OWNER OF CAMERON DIES AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

John S. Owens, former resident here and owner of the Owens Refining Company died in Brownwood at 10:?0 o'clock Tuesday, August 21, 1928 after an illness of two days.

News of the death of Mr. Owens was received here with universal shock and regret. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. John S. Owens and a son, Sherwood Owens all of Brownwood.

John S. Owens came to Cameron in 1921 from Ardmore, Oklahoma, and here engaged in the oil business. Through an arrangement with the Chamber of Commerce a refinery was erected at Minerva. Mr. Owens owned production in the field and at Luing and other Texas fields. He was strongly identified with progress and assisted in the organization of the Texas State Bank and Trust Company of which he was a director.

The interests of Mr. Owens were later sold to the Kent-Middleton Refining Company of Corsicana. Mr Owens was a member of the Masonic lodge and the lodge had charge of the funeral arrangements there.

Many messages of condolence were sent from Cameron to the family. It is not learned whether the funeral took place in Brownwood or whether the body was taken to the old home at Ardmore.

The Herald extends sympathy to the bereaved relatives and to his wife and son.

New Frigidaire Will Soon Be On Display At Keith Electric

"A long step forward," is the way H. C. Keith, local representative characterizes the new Frigidaire.

"Not since the very beginning of the automatic refrigeration business has Frigidaire Corporation made such advances in engineering design as are presented in the new Frigidaire," Mr. Keith said. "It presents every advantage that any one interested in household refrigeration could possibly desire. The most interesting features are:

"1. It is extremely quiet. You don't hear it stop, start or run.

"2. It is more efficient than ever due to the forced draft which expels all heat removed from the food compartment. Larger piston valves have increased its power. It will produce ice cubes in a room temperature of 100 degrees.

"3. All moving parts are machined to closer limits, assuring still longer life and freedom from mechanical trouble.

"4. Three lines and nineteen models assure a size for every family within the reach of every purpose.

"5. All refrigerating units are completely enclosed and the last trace of the mechanical has been removed from its appearance. It can be had in a de uxe finish of porcelain enamel or with a wide selection of beautiful colors in duco finish."

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT AND ITCHES APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ-destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store.

Please Note the Recent Important Changes.

PAUL IN A ROMAN PRISON

LESSON TEXT—Acts 16:16-40.

GOLDEN TEXT—Rejoice in the Lord always; and again I say, Rejoice.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul in Jail.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul in Prison.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Paul As an Evangelist.

I. Paul and Silas in Jail (vv. 16-26).

1. The occasion (vv. 16-24).

As the missionaries went out from day to day to the place of prayer they were accosted by a young woman possessed by a spirit of divination. She was owned by a syndicate of men who derived large gains from her soothsaying. Her utterances as she followed the missionaries became a great annoyance to Paul, who in the name of Jesus Christ commanded the evil spirit to come out of her. The spirit in this maid testified that these were servants of the Most High God and that they proclaimed the way of salvation. But Paul, like Jesus (Mark 5:7), would not have Satan's testimony. The evil spirit immediately obeyed Paul's command. When the demon was cast out, the supernatural power of the maid was gone, therefore the source of revenue was dried up. This so exasperated her owners that they brought Paul and Silas before the magistrates on the false charge of the changing of customs. It was not custom but their unlawful gain which was interfered with. There is always trouble when the unlawful business in which men are engaged is threatened.

2. Their behavior in jail (v. 25).

Paul and Silas prayed and sang hymns to God. It seems quite natural that they should pray under such circumstances, but to sing hymns is astonishing to all who have not come into possession of the peace of God through Christ. Even with backs lacerated and smarting, and feet fast in the stocks compelling the most painful attitude, in the dungeon darkness of the inner prison with extreme uncertainty before them, their hearts went up to God in gratitude.

3. Their deliverance (v. 26).

The Lord wrought deliverance by sending a great earthquake which opened the prison doors and loosed their bands.

II. The Conversion of the Jailer (vv. 27-34).

The jailer had small sympathy for the prisoners, for as soon as they were made secure, he went to sleep. Being suddenly aroused from slumber by the earthquake he was about to kill himself, whereupon Paul assured him that the prisoners were all safe. What he had heard of their preaching and what now he experienced caused him to come as a humble inquirer after salvation. He was convicted of sin and felt the need of the Savior. Paul clearly pointed the way to be saved, saying, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ." The word "believe" means to trust and fully obey. The proof that the jailer was saved is threefold:

1. Transformation from brutality to tenderness (v. 33).

He who a little while ago could with impunity lay on the cruel lashes is now disposed to wash their wounds.

2. Confession of Christ in baptism (v. 33).

Those who have really been convicted of sin and have experienced the saving grace of God delight to confess their faith in Him under all circumstances.

3. He set meat before them (v. 34).

4. His whole household baptized (v. 33).

When a man's family is willing to follow him, you may be sure that his conversion is genuine.

III. The Magistrates Humbled (vv. 35-40).

1. Orders to release the prisoners (vv. 35, 36).

The earthquake brought fear upon the magistrates and thus moved them to give leave for the prisoners to go.

2. Paul's refusal to go (v. 37).

The ground of his refusal was that their rights as Roman citizens had been violated. They demanded public vindication.

3. Brought out of prison by the officers (vv. 38, 39).

Because they were Roman citizens they were released, the magistrates fearing what they had done.

4. Returned to the house of Lydia (v. 40).

Upon their public vindication they left the prison and entered the house of Lydia, and after ministering comfort to the brethren, they departed.

Advertisements Should be Newsy

Price is not the most interesting feature of merchandised advertising, according to a survey recently completed by the E. C. Slattery Company of Boston. Out of 500 people, selected at random, who answered the questions asked them, eighty per cent were women and twenty per cent were men.

Thirty-nine per cent of the answers placed news of merchandise as the most interesting fature of the advertisement. Thirty-two per cent selected price; fifteen style information; thirteen, suggestions for use; two, comparative price statements. Merchants should realize that they should never stop advertising news of their merchandising. What they have to sell, just how good it is, how it can be used, and what it's price is, makes the people know your store and realize just what they will find there in the way of merchandise, service and price and they will not fail to come when they want what you have to sell. Honesty in advertising does pay and the reading of these honest ads in The Cameron Herald does help the people of this community.

THE NEW FARMING ACCOUNT SCHOOL

The good business farmer today watches his farm accounts carefully in respect to his labor, his farm stock and his soil, he knows what they can do and how they can be most profitably handled. He knows the mathematics of growing feed from the soil, pigs and poultry from the feed and cash profits from pigs and poultry. He knows whether he is milking the cow for paying returns or the cow is milking him out of his invested capital. Wherever his accounts show a deficit or insufficient profit on one or more items, he immediately studies to overcome the handicap and correct any mistakes that have been made.

The Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association is conducting a nationwide educational campaign for better methods of farm accounting. The commission has been stressing the wisdom of country banks through cooperation of county agents, calling farmers together, and holding account schools where instruction is given on the use of the farm account books.

Each person is led through the various steps in keeping accounts and each enters his own inventory which he has previously been instructed to take and bring to school. This gives a good start and when properly followed up by letters and an occasional visit by the specialist in charge, greatly aids the man who is really in earnest to come through his first year of keeping accounts successfully. Many times country banks offer the rooms for holding the account schools. In some instances, an employe of the bank is designated to assist farmer patrons during the year in keeping their accounts.

HOW TO GO BROKE FARMING

1. Grow only one crop.
2. Keep no livestock.
3. Regard chickens and a garden as nuisances.
4. Take everything from the soil and return nothing.
5. Don't stop gullies or grow cover crops—let the top soil wash away, then you will have "bottom" land.
6. Don't plan your farm operations it's hard work thinking—trust to luck
7. Regard your woodland as you would a coal mine, cut every tree, sell the timber and wear the cleared land out cultivating it in corn.
8. Hold fast to the idea that the methods of farming employed by your grandfather are good enough for you
9. Be independent—don't join with your neighbors in any form of co operation.
10. Mortgage your farm for every dollar it will stand to buy things you would have the cash to buy if you followed a good system of farming.—Division of Extension, University of Tennessee

CRACKLINGS

Herbert Hoover made a powerful bid for the votes of the fishing fraternities. A book on fishing, published some time ago by Mr. Hoover states, "Fishing is good for the soul of man." Hereafter when the urge comes to go fishing on Sunday, we will no longer be required to own up apologetically that we yielded to temptation and went fishing. We can say with a righteous cry in our voice that we were looking after our soul's welfare.

I note where a long legged sheep in the Hymalian is able to run forty miles a hour. This is the kind of a lamb to follow Mary nowadays.

Happiness that lasts is found only in constructive work.

How we all envy the man to whom both making and spending comes easy.

George Harve Larmer in "Old Gordon Graham" says, "Look in a man's eyes for honesty; around his mouth for weakness; at his chin for strength at his hands for temperament. at his nails for cleanliness.

No one can be a complete, or even a relative failure, who will follow the standard advice for getting ahead, that is, work hard, save his money, use his head and keep at it. We all get our proper share of lucky breaks, but it a mistake to depend on them.

DeGeurmont says, 'Money is nothing; it's power is purely symbolical. Money is the sign of liberty. To curse money is to curse liberty—to curse life, which is nothing, if it be not free."

Character

Character is a structure that is erected by persistent effort along right lines. Persistent, hard, strenous, sustained, continued effort is necessary, if the character is to be rugged and worthwhile. The strugglers o fearth are looking with longing eyes for strong men whose example brings cheer and direction. Weak hands are reaching out for the grip of the strong. Human society depends upon leadership. Our conception of religion is formed by contemplating such men as Abraham, Moses, Daniel, Joh nthe Baptist, Paul, Christ. You can be a man like that. God has made saints but of human rubbish—Mary the defiled; Zacchaeus, the worldly; Thomas, the doubting disciple. Paul, the persecutor. The influence of their transformed lives has been felt by millions. Increasing power comes from accomplishment. Don't be a weakling nor cowardly shrink from the task that confronts you. "Quit ye like men. Be strong."

Your TRAVELERS CHEQUES Are Your PASSPORT

In foreign lands, strange languages manners and monies—all tend to bewilder even the most experienced traveler.

Exchange rates fluctuate and are puzzling.

Being constantly on the move naturally increases the risk of theft or loss of travel funds.

Then there is the embarrassment of having one's personal check refused. And the difficulty of proving one's identity in far-off, out-of-the-way places.

Annoying experiences such as these may spoil even the most carefully planned, long awaited trip abroad.

And for these very reasons, to aid travelers in foreign countries, Travelers Cheques were invented. These Cheques bear your signature and are an introduction from your Bank to strangers. They are spendable everywhere, and yet you are perfectly protected against their loss or theft.

This Bank would advise that before leaving home you turn your money into Travelers Cheques. They are your financial passport no matter where you may travel.

that I shall live up to that oath to the last degree. I shall to the very limit execute the pledge of our platform "to make an honest endeavor to enforce the eighteenth amendment and all other provisions of the federal constitution and the laws enacted pursuant thereto."

Next Saturday August 25 is election day and the people are urged to go to the polls and cast a ballot for good government. The character of political campaigns we have had in Texas for the past decade have been degrading and this one has proven no exception. The people are faced with the duty of making choice in four contested races with that of United States Senator outstanding in importance. When the candidate of this column, Alvin Owsley, was defeated in the first primary our support was tendered Congressman Tom Connally, and we respectfully urge the friends of this column to go to the polls on next Saturday and cast a vote for him for the Democratic nomination. He offers the best possible compliance with the democratic principles advocated by this column and we urge his election.

Poor fools, to think a friend worthwhile
Must always wear the garb of style.
Poor fools to think that any dress
Can make man's value, more or less.
Poor fools who overalls can't see
Yet ask an evening dress for tea.

Look about you and note the towns that have prospered and have gone forward by leaps and bounds. It has all been done by a few who have inspired the many with their vision and There is enough energy and enthusiasm and vision in Cameron to get for this community anything that is within reason if we start after it and keep after it. We have faith in Cameron. We believe in its future and in its present. We believe that there is much ahead of us that might be ours if we will only unite and go ahead. Let's all get behind the worthy projects and see them realized for Cameron.

CONCENTRATION AND CO-OPERATION

One reason why few small town Chambers of Commerce accomplish much is that it is difficult to get the active forces of the average small town to concentrate on one project long enough to put it over. A lot of things are planned and nothing is done. If every Chamber of Commerce would select one thing to do each year and pay no attention to anything else until that one thing was accomplished some progress would be made. Of course such a plan would necessitate untied co-operation on one project. No organization or community has the energy or the resource to develop a half a dozen schemes at once. The secret of community progress is concentration and co-operation.

DIAMONDS THEN AND NOW

Diamond prices will not be lower, a trade note says, despite the yield from new fields. The output of diamonds is limited to the demands regardless of how plentiful they may be in the mines, markets will not be glutted.

This news is gratifying to diamond owners, but still the diamond doesn't occupy the place that it once did in our national life. It has ceased to be an important outlet for extravagance. There are so many ways of spending money now that the purchase of diamonds doesn't attract any particular attention.

In the good old days of economy, the people talked when you bought a diamond. In the old home town, the two leading society women attached considerable importance to their diamonds and there was a dispute as to which wore the most valuable stones.

The diamond remains popular, but for genuine extravagance it doesn't compare with the finer cars.

IS YOUR JOB WORTH WHILE

It was four years ago, when Boston and Main railroad was in a bad fix, that Loring took the job of chairman of the board, put new life into the road and turned it from a problem into a money maker. When he had the job going well, Loring resigned. The directors voted him $100,000 for his labor. Loring thanked them and then used the money to establish a fund for the road's employes. This is what he said to explain his unusual action: "The job seemed worth while to undertake, and the satisfaction and enjoyment in having helped to accomplish it have been adequate compensation for what I had contributed."

How foolish that statement will sound to many a clock watcher, many a chronic kicker about his job. Yet it would have struck a responsive chord among certain men of an earlier age. In far off days when the thought of getting done and getting home was not the predominant one, there were men who made things with their hands and their hearts which were so good that they are now carefully preserved in museums.

The jewelers of an earlier, quieter day fashioned their caskets, the cabinet makers their high-boys and the iron workers their rood screens with the sole thought in mind of producing something beautiful as well as useful.

Profit was a secondary consideration to the satisfaction of having done a hard job well. In those days there were medival monks, who with backs bent over a book, worked for months over the proper illumination of one capital letter, there were Chinese workmen who labored with love and care over a lump of jade to such good purpose that collectors 300 years later prize it highly as a true work of art.

It is good to note that there are men in this day of hurry and the machine age who are more interested in the job itself and the satisfaction attained in doing it well than they are in the profit which there may be at the end of it. There are men who still look upon joy in their work as of first importance and the profit that may accrue as an intesesting but somewhat unimportant by-product. There are a few such men in every organization worthy of the name, and they are the ones who merely as a by-product of the enjoyment they find in their work are gradually forging ahead of their fellows who think only of getting the job done and then getting home.

A Delightful Homecoming

Getting home from a week-end outing is the best part of the entire trip, especially if there is an automatic refrigerator in the kitchen. Here is the first picture of the New Frigidaire, announced last week by General Motors. It is amazingly quiet and will make ice cubes quickly in a room temperature of 100 degrees.

Proven in numerous test rooms and radically different from all preceding models, it is the product of experience gained in sixteen years of research and experiment and the manufacture of more than 600,000 automatic refrigerators. It is presented by Frigidaire Corporation in nineteen different models.

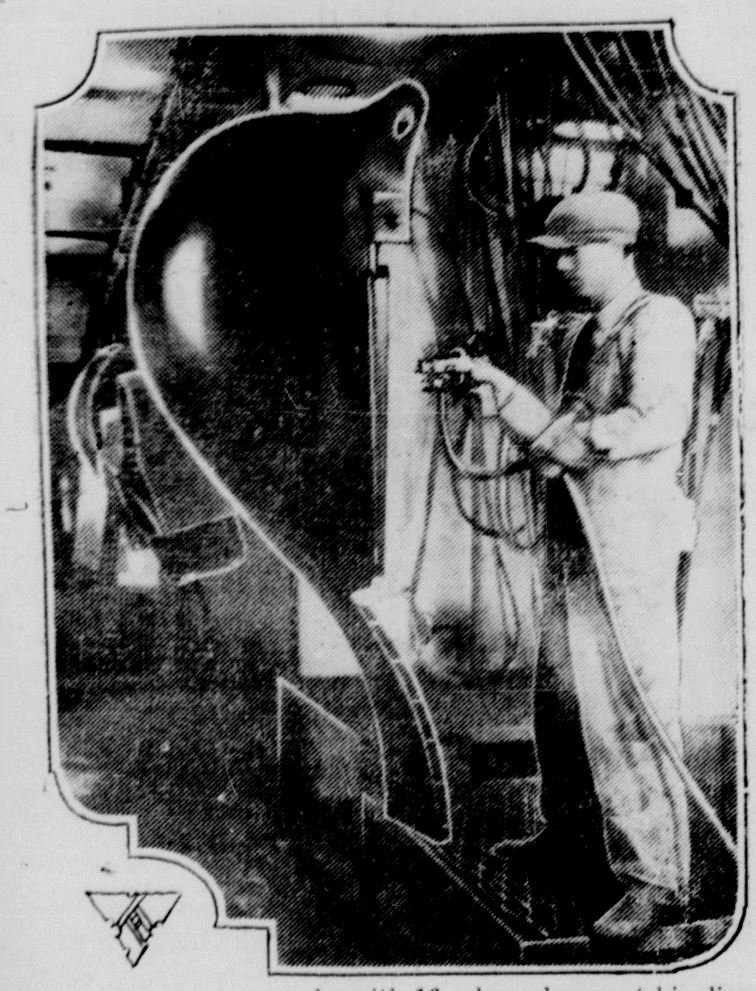
$1,000,000 FOR MORE COLOR
HUDSON COMPLETES ULTRA-MODERN PLANT



The lacquer operator works with 16 colors always at his disposal

With color playing an ever-growing part in motordom the Hudson Motor Car Co., has put into operation a special million dollar piant which permits the color-lacquering of such parts as fenders, hoods, etc., on a progressive and largely automatic system of manufacture.

The company announces that cars with new color schemes are now available. In the case of Hudson Super-Sixes the use of black enamel has disappeared—even splash aprons gasoline tanks and chassis units being lacquered in harmony with the general color scheme. This new color plan particularly with a large car like Hudson brings about a unity and harmony of design which adds much to appearance.

The new buildings devoted to the lacqupering of these units are 640 feet long, 80 feet wide and two stories high and joined to them are two other buildings each 80 feet wide and 650 feet long. There are approximately 16 miles of pipes to carry the lacquers from the mixing room on the roof to the various spraying booths.

In these booths each operator has spray guns for the 16 different colors which are now in current production for the various Hudson models.

The conveyors are among the largest installations ever known. There are three overhead systems each 3000 feet long. It is on these conveyors that the parts are hung and carried in their route through three different spraying and baking operations. The chains are so timed that the proper drying effects are obtained while the units are in motion. Besides these conveyors 1000 feet long and one conveyor 2000 feet long which carry the completed parts to the car-assembly lines.

All parts to be lacquered are first thoroughly cleaned then prepared with a metal primer and sanded. Then comes three coats of lacquer and three baking operations, producing a finish at once lustrious and urable. The final high polish is obtained by continued hand rubbing.

This million dollars for colors is said to be an evidence of Hudson's determination to keep in advance of public demand. The use of lacquer color combinations on fenders and the related parts has hitherto been something seen only on special jobs.

What We Owe You

We realize that we owe it to you and to the public generally to give the most telephone service and the best at the lowest possible cost. This we are seeking to do.

Your service today is faster and more accurate than it was a yearago. Last year 100,000 more local calls per day were completed on the first attempt than in 1926. The average time for handling long distanee calls has been reduced from over 4 minutes to almost 2 minutes.

We owe it to you to continually extend and improve telephone service just as we owe it to our stockholders to safeguard their savings and to insure an adequate return on their investment.

RAIL MAN DETAILS FACTS OF CONTROVERSY

J. W. HIGGINS TELLS OF STRIKE MOVE AMONG RIALROAD CONDUCTORS

In connection with the announcement made public by the officers of the Order of Railway Conductors and the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen that the members of these organizations in the Western District have been called on to take a strike vote because of a failure to make satisfactory wage agreements based upon the Organizations' demand for increased compensation the following statement of J. W. Higgins, chairman of the conference committee of the Managers of the Western Railways briefly details the major facts of the controversy.

The refusal of the Order of Railway Conductors and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen to arbitrate certain differences between them and the Western Railways creates a situation of great concern to the public. The Watson Parker Railway Labor Act was passed by Congress only two years ago to afford a peacable means of settling such differences. It was drafted by representatives of all the railway labor organizations and of a majority of the railways and its passage was urged by both of them. Persistence by the Conductors and Trainmen in their refusal to arbitrate would amount to a repudiation of this law.

On June 25, 1927 an Arbitration Board formed under the Watson Parker Railway Labor Act made an award in a wage dispute between the Western Railways and their conductors and Trainmen. It held that the fact that employees of these classes of Eastern and Southeastern lines recently had been granted an increase was no reason why an advance should be granted in Western Territory because road conductors and trainmen in road service in the West previously had been earning six and one-half to seven and one-half per cent more than those in the East and Southeast and because as the roads of the Western Group were earning relatively much smaller net returns than those of the East and Southeast they could not afford to pay an advance. While refusing an advance to Conductors and Trainmen in road service the Arbitration Board awarded an advance of seven and one-half per cent to the Yardmen of the Western Lines.

The award was effective until March 1, 1928 but in November, 1927 the Conductors and Trainmen renewed their demand upon Western Railways for an advance. Because of wage negotiations that were pending between the Western Railways and their Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, negotiations between the Conference Committee of Managers and representatives of the Conductors and Trainmen were not begun until July 16. Meantime the Firemen secured an advance of six and one-half percent by arbitration and the Engineers accepted a settlement on the same basis without arbitration. The Conference Committee of Managers was willing to give the Conductors and Trainmen increases equivalent to those received by the Engineers and Firemen but asked for the elimination of certain rules arbitrarily restricting the use of more than one locomotive on a train and also the number of cars that may be hauled in a train with two locomotives. They thus restrict the efficiency and economy that may be attained in operation.

Desiring to effect an early and satisfactory settlement the Conference Committee of Managers on August 1 after two weeks of negotiations offered to grant the Conductors and Trainmen either an advance of six and one-half per cent in wages without any change in rules or an advance of seven and one-half per cent if they would agree to elimination of the restrictive rules in question. Either offer would raise their wage rates and earnings above the highest in history that is, the rates awarded by the United States Railroad Labor Board in 1920. The representatives of the employees refused to accept either of these propositions but insisted as a minimum upon the retention of the rules and an advance of seven and one-half pe rcent. As previously stated the Engineers and Firemen already have accepted six and one-half per cent. It is estimated that without any change of rules an increase to the Conductors and Trainmen of six and one-half per cent would cost the Western Railways $6,500,000 a year while an increase of seven and one-half per cent would cost a million dollars more.

Mediation between the two parties has been conducted by the Honorable John Williams, a member of the United States Mediation Board. Mediation having apparently failed the Conference Committee of Managers asked Mr. Williams to use his good offices to bring about arbitration of the matters still in dispute. What this means was simply that the results be arbitrated as to whether the objectionable rules in question should be eliminated and the employes should be given an advance of seven and one-half per cent or the rules should be allowed to stand and they should be granted the same advance as has been received by the Engineers and Firemen.

There has been no favorable change in conditions on the Western Railways since an Arbitration Board held on June 25, 1927 that their road service conductors and trainmen were not entitled to any advance in wages. The railways of this territory are still falling far short of earning a fair return and are earning a relatively much smaller return than those of Eastern or Southeastern territory. The Conference Committee of Managers has offered the settlement it has with the Conductors and Trainmen because the Engineers and Firemen of these lines already have secured increases. It seems clear that Conductors and Trainmen are not entitled to larger increases than those received by the Engineers and Firemen but the Conference Committee of Managers has even offered to leave to arbitration the remaining questions in dispute.

In refusing to accept the actually generous offer of arbitration made by the Conference Committee of Managers the representatives of the Conductors and Trainmen have acted in plain disregard of the spirit and purpose of the Watson Parker Railway Labor act and thereby are imperiling its usefulness as a means of peaceful settlement of wage controversies between railways and their employes.

In line with our policy of handling only the best, the exclusive distribution of Eternit Asbestos Shingles in this territory has been secured.

The amazing increase in popularity of asbestos shingles has startled the building trades. This roof—made from asbestos rock and Portland cement, two of nature's indestructible materials—offers a value that is unapproachable.

You should see these shingles.

They are rigid slabs of rock. Although somewhat similar in texture and appearance to slate, Eternits are stronger and do not shatter so easily. And their low cost will surprise you.

Everyone wants a roof that is permanent, fireproof and beautiful. Eternits are everlasting because they are weatherproof. Rain, snow, hail, rot, rust are powerless. Fireproof because they're rock. Rock can't burn. Attractive designs in a variety of colors offer a selection for you to choose the one which will look best on your home.

After considering all asbestos shingles on the market, Eternits were selected. They are made from South African asbestos by the special Eternit process. They are stronger, tougher, easier to apply. That's why we are now offering

Constant Effort Is a Vital Part of Electric Service

DAY in and day out, your electric service continues unfaultering, yet how often do you consider the constant effort that must be made to keep this service up to the high ideal set by this company? You know that electricity is always available at the snap of a switch, but do you know that engineers work in shifts twenty-four hours a day to keep the huge generators operating, that patrolmen are making regular inspections of high voltage transmission lines to find any possible defect that will affect your service and that linemen are ready at an instant's notice to restore the flow of electricity should anything interrupt the service that you have learned to depend upon?

You may not have an opportunity to observe this constant effort, but remember that it is only a part of our many-sided work in providing electric service to you.

THOUSANDS CANNOT TAKE ASPIRIN

The discovery a few years ago of a pain relief with exhaustive tests by thousands of physicians, dentists and nures proved it to be truly wonderful, was indeed a great blessing to sufferers of headaches, neuralgia, rheumatism, neuritis, period pains. During the great flu epidemic it was conclusively found thousands could not take aspirin, acetanilid or compounds containing these.

The remarkable new discovery called A-Vol does not contain aspirin, acetanilid or any heart depressants. It is absolutely harmless to young or old. It stops pain in five minutes and instead of leaving you feeling loggy, it actually peps you up.

If you have severe headache, pains of any kind, you owe it to yourself to try this remarkable new scientific discovery. A tube of twelve tablets at your druggists costs but a few cents. Just ask for A-Vol—you will be delighted. 11tf
